The Bread and Roses Center of the Department of Women’s Studies at SDSU presents:

Feminist Research Colloquia

Transgressive Sexualities

The Annual Bonnie Zimmerman Lecture

Dr. Sabine Lang and Karen Vigneault, MA

Film: Kumu Hina

Native American Gender Fluidity: from Colonial Eradication to the Two-Spirit Movement

Wednesday, March 8

Panel noon-3pm, Film 6-8pm

Parma Payne Goodall Alumni Center, SDSU

Dr. Sabine Lang, Independent Scholar whose most recent publication is in the “Native American Men-Women, Lesbians, Two-Spirits” issue of Journal of Lesbian Studies. She is a German cultural anthropologist who has conducted fieldwork on issues related to gender and sexuality among the Diné (Navajo) in New Mexico, the Shoshone-Bannock in Idaho, and with urban Native Americans.

Karen Vigneault, MLIS is a librarian, historian and genealogist. She is a former co-leader of San Diego’s first and only Native LGBT organization in Southern California. Karen worked on San Diego’s first LGBT news show, Our World News, on Cox Cable. She also marched with Act Up in the 1980s. Karen is an inductee in the San Diego Women’s Museum.

The film Kumu Hina features Hina Wong-Kalu, a native Hawaiian teacher and mahu--those who embody the male and female spirit.

In Celebration of International Women’s Day

We are grateful to our co-sponsors: American Indian Studies and the Pride Center